

BIOGRAPHY

Soprano Jenny Schuler has earned praise in recent seasons for her powerful vocalism and compelling stage artistry. She has been hailed as a “sumptuous soprano,” with a voice “rich in nuance” and “a vivid presence on the stage.” Her 22/23 season highlights include Wagner’s Liebstod, (Tristan und Isolde) with the CCPA Symphony Orchestra at Orchestra Hall, Symphony Center Chicago, as well as debuting the role of Odabella in Verdi’s Attila with Opera Festival of Chicago. In addition, Ms. Schuler will perform as a featured artist with Opera Festival of Chicago’s summer festival.

Recent season highlights include Isabela in La Hija de Rappaccini with Chicago Opera Theater (originally Matilde in Catan’s Il Postino), Giorgetta in Il Tabarro with Opera Festival of Chicago, soprano soloist in Beethoven’s 9th Symphony and Mother in Hänsel und Gretel with Oregon Symphony, the title role of Tosca with New Jersey Festival Orchestra, the title role of Ariadne auf Naxos as a guest artist with Indiana University, Berta in Il barbiere di Siviglia with Sugar Creek Opera, the title roles of Ariadne auf Naxos and Catan’s Florencia en el Amazonas, both with the A.J. Fletcher Opera Institute, and Leonore* in the Princeton Festival’s production of Fidelio.

Ms. Schuler was nominated as finalist for the 2019 Richard Tucker Career Grant, she was the second place winner in the 2019 Classical Singer Competition, first place winner of the 2018 Lyra New York International Vocal Competition, a semi-finalist in the 2017 Premier Opera Foundation International Vocal Competition, a semi-finalist in Shreveport Opera’s 2017 Mary Jacobs Smith Competition, a finalist in the 2017 Marcello Giordani International Voice Competition, and first place winner in the 2016 Heafner–Williams Vocal Competition.

Giorgetta, Il Tabarro / Soloist, Dante 700 / Opera Festival of Chicago

"True to form, the Opera Festival of Chicago landed a sterling lineup of U.S.-based artists for this year's festival. Pomponi, a baritone, stars in "Il tabarro" alongside Chicago-based soprano Jenny Schuler and San Francisco Opera Adler fellow Christopher Colmenero. Pomponi and Schuler also headline the "Dante 700" recital program..."

Chicago Tribune, 07/23/21

La hija de Rappaccini / Chicago Opera Theater

"The voices that impressed were the female ones. Although the mezzo role of Isabela, Giovanni's landlady, is the most minor of the five, Jenny Schuler made an immediate impact with a voice that is rounded and authoritative, especially in its low register (the more surprising since Schuler herself is a soprano)."

DAVID KARLIN, BachTrack, 04/26/21

Ariadne auf Naxos / Indiana University (Guest Artist)

"Schuler has a sumptuous soprano, vocal stamina and a talent for mixing high drama with the comic."

Peter Jacobi, Bloomington Herald Times, 02/04/18

Ariadne auf Naxos / A.J. Fletcher Opera Institute

"Jenny Schuler affects a slow burn as Ariadne. Her arias smolder and build until she is mesmerizing the audience with her deep feeling and powerful tones."

Lynn Felder, Winston-Salem Journal, 04/21/17

"Miss Schuler has a beautiful and powerful voice, rich in nuance and always expressive."

Peter Perret, Classical Voice of North Carolina, 04/19/17

Florenzia en el Amazonas / A.J. Fletcher Opera Institute

"Schuler was magnificent in the title role, her warm rich voice full of the solitude and longing of the diva."

Peter Perret, Classical Voice of North Carolina, 02/04/17

"Schuler is a vivid presence on the stage, conveying powerful passions with her rich, shimmering voice and beautiful, mobile face."

Lynn Felder, Winston-Salem Journal, 04/21/17

Il cappello di paglia di Firenze / A.J. Fletcher Opera Institute

"Anaide, sung by soprano Jenny Schuler, was the perfect combination of the giggling effusive lover and bossy strict wife."

Peter Perret, Classical Voice of North Carolina, 02/05/16
